GRAND PUTTING ON SHOW FOR BENEFIT LOCAL HOCKEY CLUB

The show at the Grand this week is "on the Avenue," with a whole host of stars this will in the nature of a benefit for the Sexsmith Hockey Club to pay for the new uniforms. Sexsmith has a lot of good material this year, and with the assistance of the district this team should give over good det your tickets from the hockey boys and give them a home.

This is a splendid show and you will easily get your money's worth in entertainment, and incidentally will be doing your "Boy Scout" act for that day.

CURLING OFF TO GOOD START FOR SEASON AT SEXSMITH

Curling got off to an unofficial start last night when a pick-up game was played. Ross and Smith adapting one sheet and Eckstein and Foster landing the other.

The ice is in good shape, being very keen, only a little slushy in places, and the boys, not having chains on, did considerable skidding in fact, could hardly keep up with the puck, however, very little slushy, very necessary. Ross and Eckstein were the winners by a small margin.

On Monday evening the rinks were drawn for the first season. The following is the personnel, the skip being the first name mentioned.

W. E. McNaughton, Warren, Rev. Delve, Slavovak.

M. Ross, R. Little, P. A. Stalberg, Rev. Webb.

SPIRIT RIVER NEWS

BOX SOCIAL AND DANCES WERE

SOCIALLY SUCCESSFUL

SPIRIT RIVER, Dec. 8.—The box social and dance held at Spirit Valley on December 1 was very successful.

The dance put on by the Curling club Friday, December 4, was a most enjoyable evening.

Mr. A. Grims of Rycroft held the lucky ticket for the solo.

The masquerade dance December 4, in the Orange Hall, for children 15 years of age and under, was largely attended.

First best dressed couple, Norma Keay and Jim Vador; original couple, Hilda Vador and Arlene Keay; comic duo, June Tak and Ronnie Keay. The judges were Mr. C. Neill, Eva Gagnon and Margaret McBride.

Many journeyed to Grande Prairie to attend the show, "Maytime."

Miss Lila McDonald spent the weekend in Sexsmith.

Don't forget the Spirit Valley Christmas concert, December 21.

Another chapter was written to the dramatic story which reached a climax with the abdication of King Edward VIII, so that he might marry Mrs. Simpson, when Ernest Simpson, ex-husband of the Duchess of Windsor, married her childhood chum at Fairfield, Connecticut. His bride is the former Mrs. Kirk Raffray, who just recently obtained a divorce at Reno.

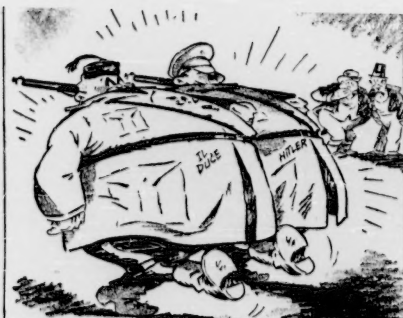

ROMANCE ENDS BLOODIEST AND MOST POETIC OF ALL FEUDS

ROMANCE REVISITED: "THE SCOTTISH-ENGLISH" BY ELIZABETH PERRY (Penguin, $1.95) is a novel of the Scottish-English border country, the Marquess of Douglas, and Clydesdale unites two houses which for centuries fought each other in the bloodiest and most poetic of all the battles of the Scottish-English border wars. The novel is set in the thirteenth century, the fifteenth century, and the nineteenth century, and is a well-written, colorful, and interesting story of the feud. Romantic in every way is the betrothal of the dashing Marquess and the lovely Percy, and the story has it that he flew his own private army to win her hand. Above are excellent pictures of the happy couple.
